

BALL MOVED, DEFLECTED OR STOPPED

Let's face it. Not everyone can be raised by a golf pro and doing swing demonstrations on the Tonight Show at the age of six. That's why the forward-thinking golf innovators at E-Z-GO, who believe the game of golf is meant to be enjoyed no matter what your handicap is, have some helpful tips for those who are looking for the quick fix to their game.

19 Play with Lousy Players.

You can't always be a good golfer, but you can always win the game if you play with people worse than you. Just imagine the pride you can take in your game when you tell your daughter's kindergarten teacher to "Take that Mrs. Norris, I beat you by 17 strokes. Booyah!" Look around. Who in your life can't swing, can't aim or is deathly allergic to grass? And remember, those with Alzheimer's won't recall if they made par on the 8th hole or not. Your grandma, the guy at work with no depth perception, your narcoleptic mailman and you – talk about a winning foursome for increasing your "golf ego."

Whether you birdie or bogie, one thing is certain, the most satisfying way to get to your next shot is with E-Z-GO.

Sit back and take it easy.

ETIQUETTE

Contrary to popular belief, not all golfers have the inclination to spend countless hours at the driving range, practicing, practicing, practicing, and spending their children's college fund on pro lessons. That's why the forward-thinking golf innovators at E-Z-GO, who believe the game of golf is meant to be enjoyed no matter what your handicap is, have some helpful tips for those who are looking for the quick fix to their game.

Making hazards when your opponents back is turned 82 What's a Little Friendly Interference Between Opponents?

Face it, we've all engaged in the timely cough at the peak of an opponent's swing, or simply worn pants so loudly colored that other players can't focus. But if you're truly dedicated to victory, you need to do more. Our favorites? Polished irons make great reflectors for directing the sun into your competitor's eyes.

Asking about the color of a wife's panties has a mental impact long after they've teed off. And of course, there's always a competitive advantage if their balls keep "disappearing" once they're on the fairway. And remember, if they angrily storm off the course, you win by default.

Whether your handicap is single or double digits, one thing is certain, the most satisfying way to get to your next shot is with E-Z-GO.

PLAYING THE BALL

Tips your golf pro won't tell you about

Blame a bird or squirrel for your ball mysteriously appearing on the fairway.	The bookedge is the oldest and most common way to assist your ball.
Putting honey on your opponent's back is a great way to attract bees.	The old, rubber snake trick can unsettle an opponent for many holes.
Think defense instead of offense and knock their ball into a hazard.	If your opponent can't walk properly their cart won't swing properly.

There's an unheard majority that can be found on the fairways about once a month (or two), hitting rounds in the hundreds, leaving the 18th hole with a sense of frustration. That's why the forward-thinking golf innovators at E-Z-GO, who believe the game of golf is meant to be enjoyed no matter what your handicap is, have some helpful tips for those who are looking for the quick fix to their game.

34 When All Else Fails? Cheat.

Kicking the ball to greener pastures (commonly known as the "footwedge") never hurt anyone. And doing this from behind a tree or bush instantly saves you a stroke. But sometimes, in order to resuscitate your game, more drastic measures are called for. Just in case, keep a spare ball or two in the cuff of your trousers for a more convenient way to recover from an outlandish hook into the trees. Paired with the phrase, "It must have bounced right off that big oak" you're well on your way to golf stardom.

Whether you shoot your age or your weight, one thing is certain, the most satisfying way to get to your next shot is with E-Z-GO.
